Green TV- A Channel with a Purpose

India's first agriculture oriented private TV channel 'Green TV' was launched on 21 October 2014 and has already managed to penetrate 11 per cent of the total TV homes in the country.

The channel headed by Nomad Films managing director Junaid Memon, has already started getting the support of advertisers. Channel broadcasts awareness-based programmes that educate and make aware farmers, agricultural scientists and professionals in the field of modern agriculture and food processing industry.

Memon says that the channel is not going by conventional advertising since it is very limiting. "What we can offer is allowing brands to meet their buyer. We are beyond just a TV channel, we can offer two-way communications," he says.

"We are picking people from agriculture institutes and then teaching them how to talk to the farmers and how to create shows for TV," he adds. Currently, the channel has about 160 people which he soon looks to increase to 250.

The primetime bands are morning 9 am to 12 pm and evening 4 pm to 7 pm with about six hours of original content being produced now. It will be soon increased to eight hours. Morning shows consist of business, commodity market and daily updates on crops, afternoon is targeted to women with health and education programmes and evening is dedicated to information based technical shows. Apart from agriculture the channel's scope involves a variety of things including horticulture, pisciculture, food processing, storage and logistics etc. All programmes are being shot in HD but currently telecast only in SD.

The group CEO is Ravi Bhatnagar, programming head is Nitin Sukheja, sales head is Sudeep Bhattacharya, and distribution head is Devinder Verma.

So far, its distribution team has seeded about 2000 of the targeted 8000 boxes to LCOs. It is also closing in on deals with DTH operators.
